

Legacy

How are you caring for your family's history?

Your family papers, photographs and heirlooms are an irreplaceable legacy for your children and grandchildren. However they may be in danger because of poor quality storage containers, a bad environment, and even careless handling practices.

A professional preservation consultation will help you protect these priceless reminders of your family from dangers seen and unseen.

Q&A

How long does a consultation last?

Plan for Rebecca to visit for about 90 minutes. You will receive your custom report within two weeks of your visit.

What should I do before my home visit?

- Gather the pieces you would like examined so they are easily accessible.
- Be prepared to show where you currently store your collection, and other areas in your home where you'd consider storage.
- Make a list of questions you have about caring for your collection.

How much do a consultation and report cost?

A consultation of up to 90 minutes plus the report is $200 within Austin, TX. Longer consultations, travel and other services are available at additional cost. Contact Rebecca to discuss your special requests. Gift certificates are available.

Family Heritage Preservation Consultations

A family heritage preservation consultation starts with an in-home visit from Rebecca Elder. During this visit, Rebecca will:

- Inspect your family collection
- Analyze the condition of your treasures
- Answer your questions about care and handling
- Determine the safest space in your home to store your collection
- Recommend steps to care for your heirloom pieces

After the visit, you will receive a written report outlining a preservation plan for your collection. This report will guide you in caring for your collection in the safest way possible.

Once the preservation consultation is completed, Rebecca can provide additional services including:

- Providing storage solutions and custom boxes.
- Rehousing your collection
- Performing minor conservation treatment
- Remediating mold
- Removing delicate photographs from damaging albums

A consultation from Rebecca Elder Cultural Heritage Preservation is the smartest way to ensure that your family's treasures will last for generations to come.
